277201	Hermitage	06/10/2023	Community Festival	Booth	2	200	3	73 Fairfield Ave ,Nashville, 37210	This day of events is proudly sponsored by the Tennessee Justice Center and The Village Network of the Mayor's Office. Here's a little history around this parade... In the late 90s and early 2000s there used to be a parade that was held by a collective of Churches in South Nashville. The relaunch of this event is in alignment with a month full of Juneteenth events and is designed to commemorate the rich heritage of African Americans to the Nashville legacy. Individuals like James C Napier, Callie House, Tony Sudekum, Frederick Douglass, Diane Nash and more. On June 5th 1897, the African American community of Nashville held a Parade in Centennial Park... It was called the Negro Day Parade. This was inspired by the words and motivation from historical leader Frederick Douglass when he visited the city back 1873 (just 8 years after the emancipation proclamation). This event will incorporate a parade, a block party and the unveiling of the new building for the Tennessee Justice Center. It will
