

Visiting Metro Animal Care and Control

Today I am going to visit the animals at Metro
Animal Care and Control

An Animal Shelter is a place for animals to live who don't have a home.

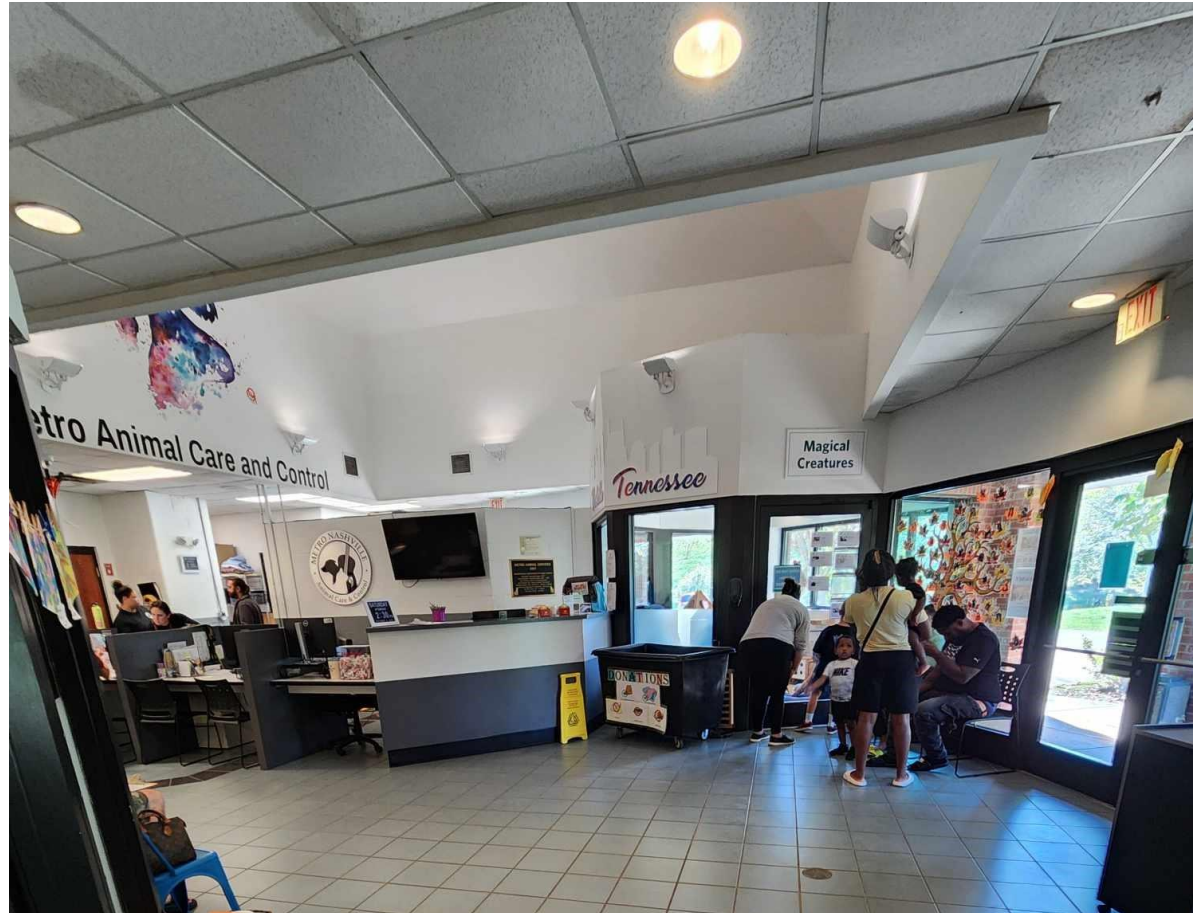

I will enter the shelter through the front doors.

I will walk into the lobby.

There might be lots of people and animals in the lobby.

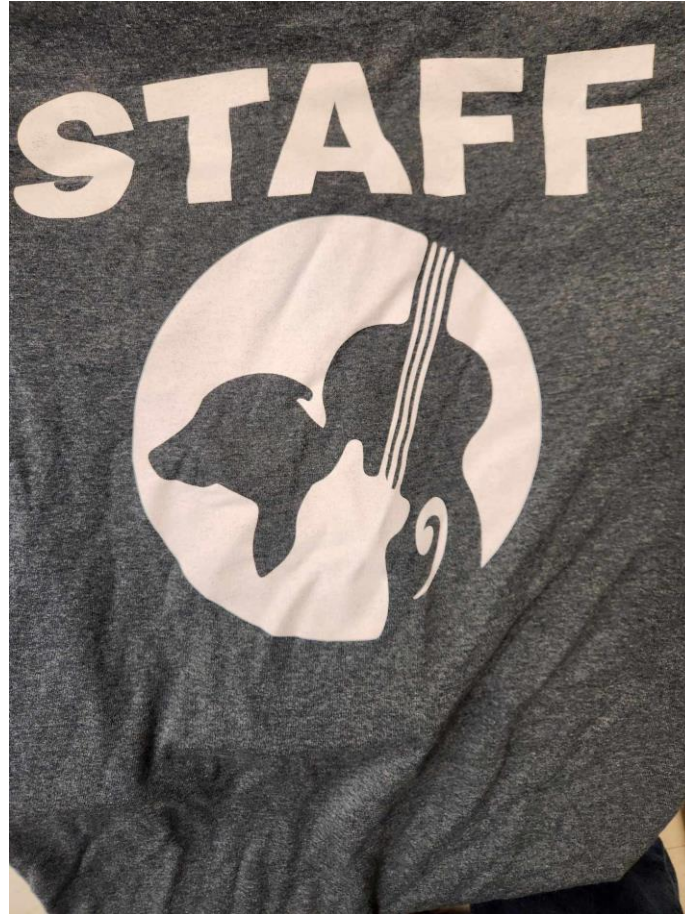

I will see a desk with people at it who can help answer questions.

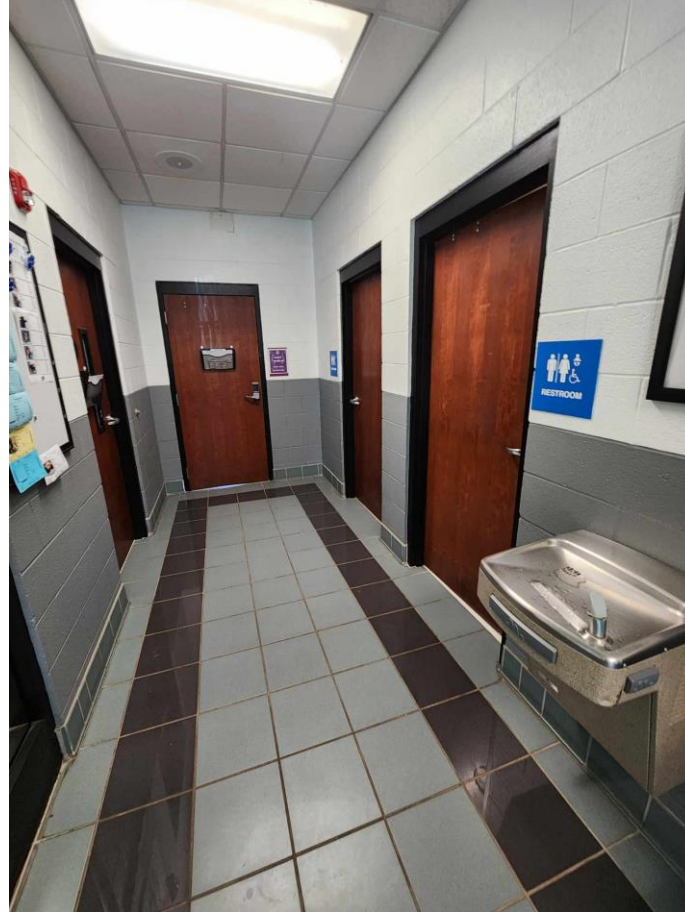

Some people work here to take care of the animals. I know who works at MACC because they wear a shirt that says “STAFF”

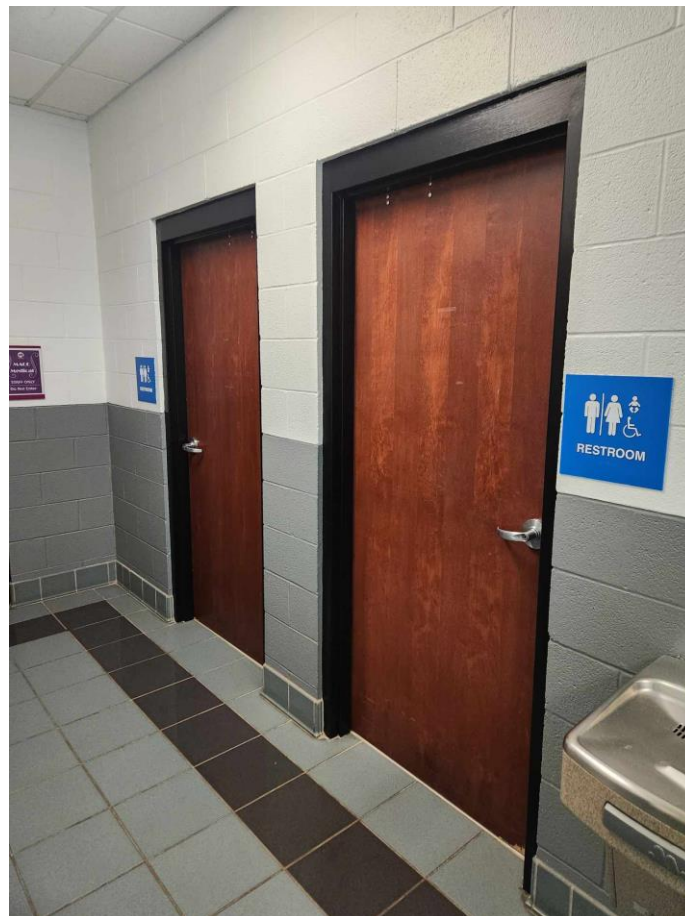

Different doors in the lobby will take me to different places I might want to go.

Some doors will take me to see cats.

Some doors lead to the bathrooms.

Some doors will take me to see dogs.

Some doors aren't for me to go through.

If I open the door to visit dogs it will be loud.

The floors might be wet or have other things on them.

The room might smell unpleasant.

I can walk through the aisles of the dog adoption rooms, the dogs might be barking or jumping.

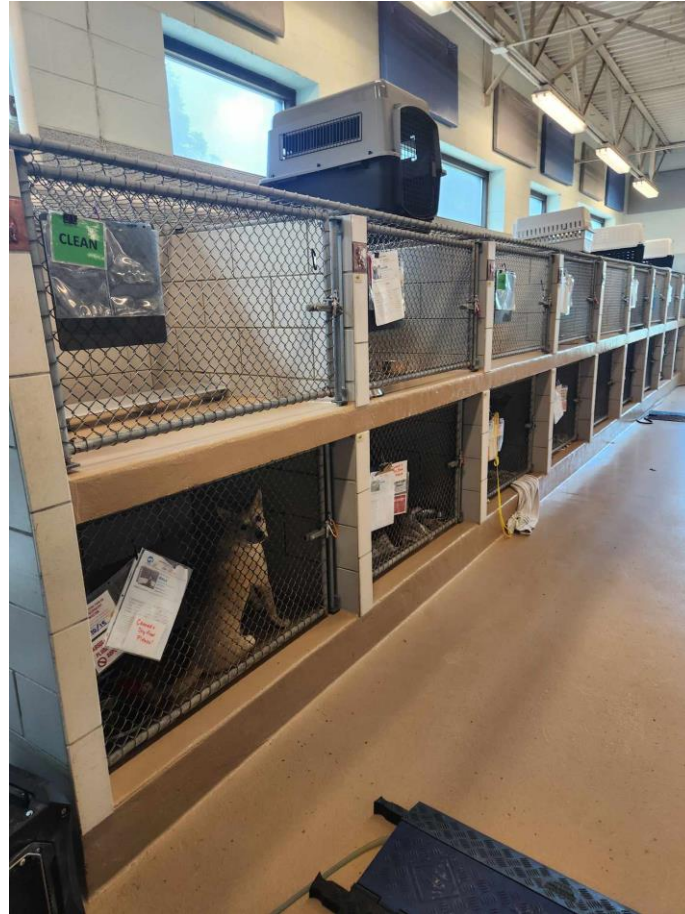

I will keep my fingers outside of the kennels.

There is a second door I can go through to see more dogs.

There will be small kennels along the walls which might have dogs in them as well.

If I want to visit with cats I would go through the door labeled cats in the lobby.

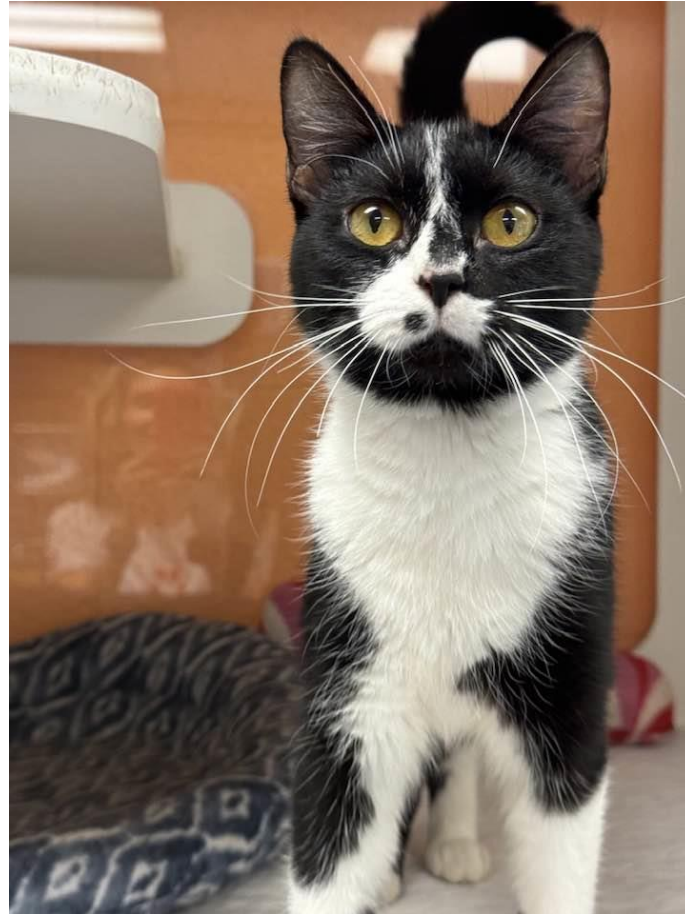

It might be noisy or smelly in the room.

It might be crowded when I enter the room.

There will be cats of all ages and colors in the room.

I can look at the cats in their kennels but I shouldn't touch them.

There may be volunteers in the room that I can ask questions to.
